JEMCO CONTRACTING & ELECTRICAL SERVICES

BRAND GUIDELINES, VERSION 2.0, OCTOBER 2026

How the JEMCO brand goes together.

One mark, two blues, one accent, two typefaces. Everything here is built to look right on a truck door, a shirt, an invoice, and a phone screen without redrawing anything.

THE IDEA

Electric, but built.

The mark is the name itself. JEMCO is set in heavy, slanted letters. A lightning bolt strikes through the stem of the J, and a second, longer bolt runs under the whole word as a streak, tucked under the J and pointing past the O. The letters say who; the bolts say electrical. The J with its bolt stands alone as the icon. The descriptor line underneath is set in Saira, a squared industrial sans, with "Contracting" in navy and "& Electrical Services" in blue.

LOGO SYSTEM

Four ways to use the logo

Primary

The default. Use whenever there is room for a square-ish logo.

Horizontal

Website header, letterhead, email signature, banners.

Mark

The name with the bolt, no descriptor line: hero graphics, shirt backs, hard hats.

Icon

The J with the bolt: social avatars, Google Business Profile, app icons, favicon.

COLOR VERSIONS

Full color first, one color when you must

Use the full-color version on white or very light backgrounds and the reverse version on navy. The one-color versions exist for embroidery, single-color print, engraving, and anywhere gradients will not reproduce.

Full color on white
Default.

Reverse on navy
Dark backgrounds and garments.

One-color navy
Single-color print, stamps, embroidery on light fabric.

One-color white
Embroidery and screen print on dark fabric, engraving.

Alternate: the roofline mark

An optional version with a roof over the letters for home-services advertising (mailers, yard signs, home-show banners) where the house needs to be explicit. Keep the primary mark as the default everywhere else so the brand stays consistent.

CLEAR SPACE AND MINIMUM SIZE

Give it room

Keep a margin equal to the cap height of the letters on all sides. Nothing else (text, photos, other logos, the edge of a card) goes inside it.

Primary: 220 px / 2.25 in wide

Horizontal: 260 px / 2.75 in wide

Name alone: 110 px / 1.1 in wide

Icon: 32 px

Below these sizes the descriptor line stops being readable. Use the name alone or the icon instead.

COLOR

Two blues, an electric accent, and hi-vis amber

The blues carry the brand. Electric is for the bolt and for highlights on navy. Amber is the tradesman's hi-vis: it is reserved for the one action you want someone to take, like the phone number, and for the warning stripe. If amber is on every button it means nothing.

TYPOGRAPHY

Saira for headlines, Barlow for everything else

SAIRA, EXTRABOLD 800 AND BOLD 700

Panel upgrades, EV chargers, generators.

LABELS IN UPPERCASE, TRACKED +0.14EM

The display face. Headlines, buttons, labels, prices on quotes. Free (SIL Open Font License) on Google Fonts, so it can be installed on any computer for print work.

BARLOW, REGULAR 400, MEDIUM 500, SEMIBOLD 600

Barlow is the workhorse: body copy, forms, invoices, emails, and anything that has to be read at length. It has the same slightly squared shapes as Saira, so the two sit together without fighting. Keep body text between 16 and 18 px on screen and 10 to 11 pt in print.

Also free on Google Fonts. If neither font is available (a text-only email, a sign shop with a limited library), use Arial or Helvetica Bold for headlines and Arial for body.

VOICE

Say it like the person doing the work

Sounds like JEMCO

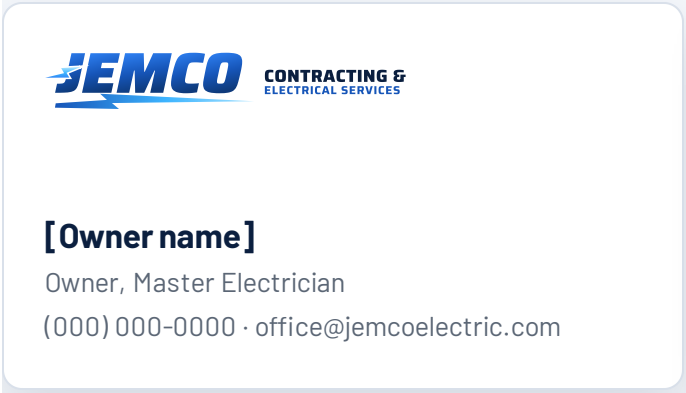

- "Written quote before we start."
- "Breaker keeps tripping? Call today, not next week."
- "We pull the permit and meet the inspector."
- "One crew for the wiring and the walls."

Does not sound like JEMCO

- "Your premier full-service solution provider."
- "We go above and beyond to exceed expectations."
- "Synergy", "best-in-class", "world-class".
- Exclamation points. The work speaks for itself.

APPLICATIONS

How it looks in the real world

Business card, front. 3.5 x 2 in, white stock, horizontal logo top-left.

Business card, back. Solid navy with the reverse primary logo centered.

Van side on white paint. Primary logo, phone number in Saira 800, license line, and the two blue streak stripes low on the panel.

Navy work shirt, left chest: one-color white mark, 3.5 in wide. Full name and phone across the back in white.

RULES

Do and do not

Do

- Use the SVG files whenever the software allows; they scale to any size without blurring.
- Put the full-color logo on white or off-white, and the reverse logo on navy.
- Keep the clear space, especially on business cards and yard signs.
- Send the vector files (SVG or PDF) to sign shops and embroiderers, not screenshots.
- Use the one-color versions for single-color printing and embroidery.

Do not

- Stretch, squash, rotate, or add drop shadows, glows, or outlines.
- Recolor the mark (no red bolt, no black letters) or set it on a busy photo.
- Retype JEMCO or the descriptor line in another font, or redraw the bolt.
- Put the full-color logo on mid-tone or bright backgrounds; use navy or white behind it.
- Separate the bolts from the letters, or use a bolt on its own as a logo.
